

REMEDIES PROMISED FOR DEFECTS IN ELECTRIC SERVICE

Shortcomings Discussed at Chamber of Commerce Conference Attended by Large Users of Current and Officials of the Company—Money for Improved Equipment the First Step in Solving Problem of Handling Increased Business.

At the suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce officials, an informal conference of large users of electric power was held Tuesday evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms for the purpose of comparing notes and suggesting, if possible, a remedy for recent troubles. President Beal of the Kingston Gas and Electric Company, Charles Lasher, the new manager of the operating department and R. L. Marchant, the financial manager, were present to answer questions and make statements. Judge Fowler, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided and about 20 representatives of industries that use electric power were in attendance.

With two or three exceptions, the experience of users of power was that interruptions of from a few minutes to half an hour have occurred several times; that lights flickered and voltage was low, especially on rainy days; that power was often inadequate and unsteady; On October 3, power was interrupted seven times in one hour at one large factory. At other places it was inadequate for use for two hours. In the textile industries, interruption of power without warning results in great damage to goods in process of manufacture.

One manufacturer who is familiar with all the problems of electricity said most of the interruptions were due to the construction of the transmission lines above ground. To put them underground would cost such an enormous sum that in order to pay it the rates for current would have to be advanced to such a figure that everybody would have to burn tallow candles. When the current falls the meter stops and the Electric Company gets the worst of it because its income stops.

President Beal expressed his gratitude for having this opportunity to talk things over with his customers. He conceded the justice of the complaints and said that most of the trouble was due to wires, transformers and switchboards being overloaded. The high tension line is adequate to carry more than double the current demanded in Kingston. The Kingston Consolidated Railroad has its own system of transformers, etc., and therefore is in no way the cause of the trouble. The supply of current is ample, but distribution facilities are not. Hence the flickering of lights, drop in voltage and interruptions in power. Fully 50 per cent of the trouble is local and the remedy lies in increased distribution facilities.

Interruptions caused by breaking of the high tension supply line can be avoided by building an additional and separate line, so that there will be an alternative line to be used in case of trouble. Some of the local trouble conditions can and will be remedied at once, but the betterment of the equipment must wait until the necessary financing can be done. The company has applied for permission to issue $300,000 of securities, with the proceeds of which both the electric and gas plants can be brought up to date and made equal to the demands of the present and take care of the increased demands in the future.

Mr. Beal also touched on the rate war and intimated that the continuance of this would not tend to make it easy for the company to market securities, even when and if it does so. He made it clear that without substantial funds necessary equipment cannot be procured and installed.

IN CONSTANTINOPLE.

Greeks and Turks Have Daily Killings, Writes Kingstonian.

In an interesting letter just received from Harold Parkes, a Kingston boy in the United States Navy, with the U. S. S. Sturtevant, at Constantinople when the letter was written, there is an illuminating paragraph concerning the Turkish and Greek situation.

Young Parkes who sends his best regards to all his Kingston friends, writes as follows: "We are leaving here (Constantinople) tomorrow, for Asia and as I have been there before, I will tell you a little about the place. It is a city of about forty thousand people and is in Turkey in Asia Minor. There is no one in control there. One day the Greeks are in control and the next the Turks. As you can just imagine how they live. The Turks have the upper hand just now and they hang or kill about twenty-five or thirty people every day, and it is just the same when the Greeks are in control. They do not allow us to go ashore on liberty. The only one who goes ashore is the captain and that is to look after the Near East Hotel people who are here to help them, but have a good idea."

When we were down there before, three Greeks swam out to the ship, a distance of about two and a half miles and said that the Turks were after them and they had escaped. We had them aboard about three days and then had to send them back to the shore for the Turks demanded that they be turned over to them. I don't know what happened to them, but have a good idea."

ADVOCATED TEST OF COUNTY COWS

Dr. Mark O'Meara Believes In Compulsory Testing of Cows For Tuberculosis—Health Board Considers Suggestion—Laboratory Committee's Report Adopted.

Dr. Mark O'Meara appeared before the board of health at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening and advocated the compulsory testing of cows for tuberculosis. Dr. O'Meara stated that the transfer of tuberculosis of the bovine type to children and adults through drinking of impure milk has been definitely proven by medical investigators, and he greatly deplored the fact that although we had a way to prevent such an occurrence by the tuberculin testing of all cows, yet we did not use it.

Health Officer Frank A. Johnston agreed with Dr. O'Meara, but believed it should be a state regulation rather than for a city, because if the test was compulsory in the city there might be a milk famine. If the local farmers objected to the expense involved they would ship their milk some place where such regulations were not in force.

Mayor Canfield pointed out the fact that Grade A and certified milk requires tuberculin tested cows, but that no milk of these grades is sold in Kingston.

The matter was referred to the sanitary inspector to investigate the action taken in other cities of this class to report back at the next meeting.

The reports of the officers, which were printed in full last week in The Freeman, were adopted.

The laboratory committee submitted the following report:

The laboratory committee hereby report that in and by chapter 399 of the laws of 1921, being an amendment to section 5 of article 2 of the public health law, it is provided that the state commissioner of health may establish district laboratory supply stations for the distribution of laboratory supplies, furnished by the state department of health, and appoint a custodian thereof, and that such sub-stations thereof may be established as may be necessary for the proper distribution of laboratory supplies to physicians. That in pursuance thereof, the state commissioner of health on September 23, 1921, designated the city of Kingston as one supply station and the county of Ulster, excepting the city, as another supply station, and appointed B. Eleanor Easton, the director of the city laboratory, to serve as custodian of both supply stations.

We have approved the said action and we recommend to the board its approval and further that such sub-stations be established as may be necessary for proper distribution of laboratory supplies to physicians of the city and county, under the direction of said custodian and director and with the approval of the state commissioner of health.

PALMER CANFIELD, JR.,
DR. FRED HUNNE,
CHARLES L. MCBRIDE,
Committee.
FRANK A. JOHNSTON,
Health Officer.

The following resolution was introduced, adopting the report of the committee, and was unanimously approved:

Resolved, that the report of the laboratory committee in reference to the establishment of supply stations and sub-stations for the distribution of laboratory supplies to physicians, and the appointment of B. Eleanor Easton by the state commissioner of health as custodian and director, be received and approved, and be it further

Resolved, that such sub-stations be established as may be necessary for the proper distribution of laboratory supplies to physicians of the city and county under the direction of said custodian and director, upon the recommendation of the health officer and sanitary supervisor, and with the approval of the state commissioner of health.

The board then adjourned.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS IN CONVENTION

Delegates From County at Fair Street Church—State Superintendent Reminds Employers That When All Is Said, Their Efforts Alone Can Help Idle.

The annual Ulster County Sunday School convention held its opening session at the Fair Street Reformed Church on Tuesday afternoon. In the absence of the president of the association, the Rev. Frank B. Seeley, D. D., who was called out of town, the opening devotional exercises were led by the Rev. R. B. Ingersoll, prayer being offered by the Rev. Mr. Goebel of Shawangunk. On the arrival of the superintendent, the Rev. Henry W. Brink of Gardiner, he took charge of the conference for the afternoon.

The first conference was presided over by Prof. Asa S. Goodrich, division superintendent, who opened the discussion on "Has Your Sunday School Tried Anything New?" Apparently none of the new, or to be more correct, "different" things suggested by Prof. Goodrich had been tried out, but they certainly gave food for thought as to possibilities for the future. Some of the suggestions included "Decision Day," or its equivalent. Some of the results of Sunday school teaching might be ascertained by the attitude of the pupils toward taking definite Christian stand; training classes for teachers; teachers having a one or two year certificate for a three year diploma gained from systematic and ordered study; making the Sunday school more worshipful and reverent; systematic missionary study made interesting and real; etc. Summed up, if the Sunday school of today is doing its whole duty every one—ninety-nine out of a hundred percent—actually every one of the pupils of the school should come into the church.

Fred D. Cartwright, state superintendent, was down on the program to give an "address," subject to be "Young People's Division." What he did was something better than deliver an address, he got his audience to "thinking," an accomplishment which Theodore Roosevelt considered one of the greatest things in the world.

Of course it was all about "young people," but not in the generally accepted, cut-and-dried sense. Having set his audience to thinking how our boys and girls over twelve years and under twenty-four were not children, really, and were not adults at all, he made it clear that they were, just actually, "Young People." Then he asked a question that has been put up to some fifty thousand Sunday school boys and girls in this country: "Why do they go to Sunday School?" There were some good answers given, and then Mr. Cartwright told his hearers that the answer far and away was that the one answer far and away was that they went to Sunday school because of the influence of companionship. Following out this line of thought he showed how the "gang" or "set" spirit holds almost undisputed sway over boys and girls between the ages of twelve and sixteen or eighteen. During that time a boy or girl will stick to the gang whether his or her parents like it or not. That was a point well to remember in Sunday school teaching. Then along would come the one thing that would break in on the gang or set rule—"a date with a girl." And right there Mr. Cartwright sounded a very timely and needed warning against making fun of the first signs of the social instinct in young people, by calling it "puppy love," etc. This God-given instinct has not been set at this period of the development of human life by mankind but by God Himself and should be guarded and guided, not ridiculed. Having drawn out the consensus of opinion that the two main objects of Sunday school were worship and teaching, Mr. Cartwright convicted the Sunday schools on the open admission of the delegates present of failing to meet either requirement as it should be met. And he proved that the reason that the songs, the prayers, the scripture readings that make up the "opening" of the Sunday school, and the songs and benediction that close the Sunday school do not make for worship, which he better expressed "The Worship of God," because they were a program prepared by adults, according to adult ideas and for adult edification. Usually the same charge was to be laid to the lessons used: they were arranged by adults and would be found interesting to adults. In other words, the trouble with our Sunday schools today, if they do not hold and gain our boys and girls, is not at all a "young people's problem," but an "adult people's problem," badly in need of solving.

But Mr. Cartwright did not stop with telling what had proved to be ineffective. He told of Sunday schools which today are holding and gaining boys and girls, because they are for the boys and girls. He told of one very large Sunday school, where the superintendent of the boys' department is a boy of seventeen and where the children run to get to Sunday school before nine o'clock in the morning lest they miss the "worship" part of the session, as they will do if one bit tardy.

Summed up, Mr. Cartwright showed the necessity for instruction in singing, instruction in praying, or how to pray instant and unpremeditated prayer most undeniably an instruction in the choosing and reading of Scripture, absolutely necessary if there is to be worship in the Sunday school; and an interesting lesson, to the young people, as necessary if there is to be effective teaching.

The following delegates were regis-

UNEMPLOYMENT IS DISCUSSED

All Cities In State Represented At Albany Where Colonel Woods Reminds Employers That When All Is Said, Their Efforts Alone Can Help Idle.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, N. Y., October 19.—Warning that individual effort in every municipality and hamlet in the country alone can bring real solution of unemployment was given a state wide conference of officials and business men here today by Colonel Arthur Woods, chairman of a sub-committee of the national unemployment conference.

Two means of finding the answer to the jobless problem were advanced by Colonel Woods:

1—General "sprucing up" by everyone who has work to be done.

2—Immediate prosecution of public work.

"The cure for unemployment," said Colonel Woods, "is work. The way to get rid of unemployment is to provide employment. We must not lose sight of this fact, yet we must be alive to the needs of the hundreds of thousands of men throughout the country with whom the question is not merely how they can get work but also how long they can live and keep their families alive until that longed-for job appears."

Colonel Woods declared that every municipality and every one who finds himself in the position of "employer" must shoulder their part of the responsibility for clearing up a situation that is constantly becoming more menacing.

The conference was held under direction of the Albany Chamber of Commerce. Mayors, corporation counsels, city school superintendents and heads of the chamber of commerce and board of trade of practically every city in the state attended.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—A virtual armistice in the railroad strike situation was in effect today as all factions in the fight that threatens a nation wide tie up of the country's transportation facilities awaited the conference tomorrow of the chiefs of the railroad brotherhoods with members of the United States Railway Labor Board.

The impression prevailed in labor circles here that the strike will be averted or at least postponed. Labor leaders have declared that any faction that would assure a withdrawal of proposals of present wage cuts by the railroads would forestall the strike and postponement of further wage reductions have been announced as a definite part of the labor board's plan for settlement of the controversy.

New York, Oct. 19.—Asserting that the railroads will operate "just the same" in spite of any strike, but admitting a strike would seriously impair the morale of the railroad organizations, a statement was issued by the American Railway Executive Association today stating there could be no reduction in freight rates until wages were slashed.

The statement pointed out that the railroads were in most cases only able to pay interest on their bonds and to reduce freight rates without cutting wages would impair bond values.

Hazleton, Penn., Oct. 19.—In preparation for the strike scheduled to begin on its lines November 1, the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company today began advertising for men to take the places of those who will quit. Assurance was given that the positions filled by new men would be permanent.

P. C. MORSE HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Climbed Stone Pile With His Ford But Couldn't Escape Careless Driver Just Starting to Florida—Mr. Morse Badly Shaken Up.

Perley C. Morse, proprietor of the Indian Valley Inn at Kerkonkson, had a narrow escape from being killed in an automobile accident on the Ellenville-Kingston state road near Kyserike shortly before noon Tuesday.

Mr. Morse and a friend were coming to Kingston. As they neared the Trowbridge farm they noticed a Ford car coming toward them at a rapid rate, but the driver instead of paying attention to the road was talking to his wife and was driving about three feet off his side of the road.

Mr. Morse's only course to avoid collision was to cut over to the opposite side of the road or to run up on a stone pile between the state highway and a ditch. He chose the latter course. As his car took to the stone pile, the other driver turned and saw him, but apparently becoming rattled, turned still further to the left instead of getting back on his own side of the road. He struck Mr. Morse's car squarely and almost completely demolished it. His own car was overturned but the damage to it was slight.

Mr. Morse was thrown through the windshield and struck on his head on the rock, skinned his nose and otherwise injuring his head. He was dazed for half an hour from the force of the impact. His overcoat was badly torn. His companion managed to escape injury but he is unable to tell how he escaped from the car.

The car which struck Mr. Morse's car was driven by a man from Germantown, Columbia county, who said he was on his way to Florida with his wife for the winter. The car was heavily loaded with bedding, groceries, etc., and a bag of coffee was spilled out of the car within a few feet of the edge of the ditch on his left side of the road. His car overturned in such a way as completely to block traffic, but it was removed to one side of the road by motorists who began gathering within a few minutes after the accident.

As soon as Mr. Morse recovered from the shock of the accident, he telephoned to the sheriff's office, and Sheriff Kolts brought him to Kingston, where his injuries were dressed.

Both cars were Fords. The Germantown car was a new one. Its owner went to Mr. Morse's hotel to remain until his car can be repaired.

K. H. S. GIRLS AT COLLEGE.

Misses Smith and Dargemond Form Music Association.

Once again graduates of Kingston High School have distinguished themselves at college. Miss Agnes Scott Smith and Miss Dorothy Dargemond have through their efforts formed a music association at New York State College, where both Miss Smith and Miss Dargemond are members of the junior class. The new association, although less than two weeks old, already has over half of the student body enrolled as members. It is the purpose of this new organization to bring at least three artists of note to the college each year besides offering a study of the lives and work of the great composers which will be under the direction of T. Frederick Canady, who is himself accompanied among the ten leading composers now living in the United States. While in high school it will be remembered that both of the young ladies showed their interest in music as were active members of the Girls' Glee Club.

Dick's Famous Fairy Tales
MARY GRAHAM BONNER
 THE SPURTING HOSE

In a free city hospital for children, the main boys and girls. The hospital overlooked the city streets. It was situated in a very crowded part of the city and the streets below the hospital were always crowded with men and women and children and dogs.

Sometimes a merry-go-round would stand on the street before the hospital and the children would listen to the gay tunes it played. They would watch others riding the spirited horses—and still others with not such adventurous spirits would be sitting in quiet chairs as they revolved around in the music.

But oh in the summer time it was hot in the hospital. Lying in beds and sitting in hospital wheeling chairs seemed to them far hotter than playing would be—for it was hard to forget the heat when sitting or lying still.

And the warmth seemed to rise right up from the pavement and to tell the children that it had come to get them a visit.

Now and again some one brought ice cream to the hospital, and some three children who lived just outside the city, came in with wild flowers which made the hospital wards seem far more summery, and even less hot.

But all day long the hot sun poured down, and no trees were about to help with their shade and with their moisture.

At night it was very hard to sleep. It almost seemed to the children as though the heat had no intention of letting anyone alone even then.

And so it went on when one evening the matron came in for her usual good-night rounds. It was earlier than usual. They hoped that she would not be suggesting going to bed any earlier. But that was not like her.

"You're all pretty hot, I know," she said, "and I've brought every one of you a bathing suit. Even though we haven't much money in this hospital, we at least can afford that much, I decided."

She paused for a moment while every child tried to smile. It was all right, of course, to "make-believe" about many things, but not about bathing suits when there was no water except in the bathtub!

But she was talking some more. "And now I want you all to put on your bathing suits, and in five minutes I will meet you all by the elevator."

What could it mean! The matron helped the children to put on their new bathing suits, and every child who was not too sick, was given one.

"Such a Seamspring."

Then they went out to the elevator, and there was the matron. One group at a time was taken down to the courtyard below.

The children were more mystified than ever. What could it all mean? In a moment or two the nice, good-natured janitor of the hospital appeared and said to the matron, "Is everyone here?"

"Yes," the matron answered.

"Well," said the janitor, "do they like the idea of being cooled off?"

"I haven't told them what it is to be cooled off," the matron said. "I've left it to you to tell them."

"Well, well, well," and the janitor laughed. "They're all dressed up in bathing suits and don't know why they are."

"I'm going to play the hose," he continued, "and you're all to jump under it or in it, or whatever way you want to jump or walk or sit or stand, and my wife's afraid of the hose can stand by and look on."

There was no one who stood by and looked on. Every child had a shower with and yet another and yet another.

Some tried to catch the water and hold it in their hands just as the hose could be held.

Others with a scampy and a frothy "There was, Oh, such laughter and such merry making." And that night the sleep was a cooling, restful sleep, for the heat had been broken in its stride with the hose.

And every night during the summer the children put on their bathing suits and went down to the courtyard where were the janitor and the hose spraying water and coolness.

"The after all," one of the children said, "there's nothing much about them after all, is there?"

And every one of them agreed to that.

Everybody WASN'T happy.

A DAY WITH SALADS

A salad may be prepared of almost any edible food. Beginning the meal with a mixture of fruit is called a cocktail, and may consist of any combination pleasing to the palate. A delicious one is prepared of balls of yellow muskmelon, using a potato scoop to prepare the balls, and the fruit should be ripe but firm. Fill the glasses with the golden balls and pour over a nutmeg sauce, using orange juice, a dash of lemon, sugar and grated nutmeg for flavor. Cool, and pour over the muskmelon, and serve with a sprig of mint or chervil for a garnish.

Salad of ginger snap with some of the canton ginger added, finely chopped makes a delightful combination for those who enjoy ginger.

Marshmallow and Apple Salad.—Take finely cubed, good flavored apples, sprinkle with lemon juice, add a few blanched almonds and equal quantities of celery, then a generous handful of quartered marshmallows—stir into a cupful of whipped cream. Dress tablespoonfuls of boiled salad dressing, adding such seasoning as seems good, and serve.

Date Salad.—Cut an orange into sections, using care to keep them whole removing the connecting tissue; add one cupful of diced celery, one-half cupful of put meats broken in bits and two cupfuls of diced apple with one-half cupful of dates. Add a spoonful of lemon juice, and serve with any good, well-seasoned salad dressing.

A most delicious salad combination is apple, pear and celery. Add any desired salad dressing and serve on head lettuce hearts. Shred the apple, celery and pears in uniform strips, marinate with French dressing for an hour before serving.

Salad combinations are not always easy to conform to the recipe in hand. One must use imagination and substitution—a bit of this and a bit of that, much tasting and an eye for garnishing will make a pleasing salad out of odds of foods that would otherwise go to waste.

Subject: "The Value of Intelligence Tests to Teachers."
Discussions invited.
Unfinished Business.

At the first session in the afternoon, the president, Miss Nellie A. Cronin will, following the speaker of the hour, explain the financial system of the "retirement" plan in which all teachers are so much interested.

At the recent meeting of the Hudson Valley School Women's Club held in Poughkeepsie, the candidacy of Miss Alice M. Hitchcock of Newburgh—high school teacher—and Charles S. Olson, Syracuse, grammar school teacher, as members of the retirement board was endorsed and the local chapter has instructed Miss Hewitt to vote for the same.

The progressive Kingston Chapter always sees to it that it is ably represented at all important state conferences of teachers, and has sent a delegate to last year's and this year's meetings of the Teachers' Welfare League.

FORDS RUN 34 MILES ON GALLON GASOLINE

Start Easy in Coldest Weather—
Other Cars Show Proportionate Saving.

A new carburetor which cuts down gasoline consumption of any motor and reduces gasoline bills from one-third to one-half is the proud achievement of the Air-Friction Carburetor Co., 1111 Madison St., Dayton, Ohio. This remarkable invention not only increases the power of motors from 30 to 50 per cent, but enables every one to run on high gear. It also makes it easy to start a Ford or any other car in the coldest weather. You can use the very cheapest grade of gasoline or half gasoline and half kerosene and still get more power and more mileage than you now get from the highest test gasoline. All Ford owners can get as high as 34 miles to a gallon of gasoline. So sure are the manufacturers of the immense saving their new carburetor will make that they offer to send it on 30 days' trial to every car owner. As it can be put on or taken off in a few minutes by anyone all readers of this paper who want to try it should send their name, address and make of car to the manufacturers at once. They also want local agents, to whom they offer exceptionally large profits. Write them today.—Advertisement.

Wrecking Friendships.

Garlic may be good for a man's arteries, but it is rough on his friendships.—Chicago News.

All any modern cook needs is a can opener.

Money talks, but there would be so many financial scandals if it stuttered more.

As Seen In The Moonshine.

Henry went out to see his friend in the country. The conversation turning to crops, he asked: "Bout how much you think your corn will yield?"

"Well," answered his friend, "I'm figurin' on somethin' like twenty gallons to the acre."

The March of Progress.

Ned—"Do you remember the old joke about the rural gent, coming to town and blowing out the gas when he went to bed tired?"

Ted—"Sure thing, and now he steps on the gas, and the blowouts are in the wheels that are tired."

A sign posted up in a Wisconsin saw mill reads: "The saws are running—no use to touch them to convince yourself."

Hands On Your Pocketbooks.

"Dad, what is a touching speech?" asked Johnny.

"One that precedes a collection, my son," answered Dad.

A feminine golf enthusiast is authority for the statement that some of her sister players are caty enough to be called golf lynx.

The Superfluous Adjective.

A headline speaks of a "Big ovation." Did anybody ever receive a little one?—New York Post.

Japan is heartily in agreement with the idea that the rest of the world should curtail armaments—while she catches up with the procession.

Our observation is that after a man quits smoking he doesn't feel as virtuous as he feels envious.

Headline: Organized Hoboes Offer Aid to Solve Unemployment. Shucks; thought they'd solved it long ago.

Myself.

I have to live with myself, and so, I want to be fit for myself to know. I want to be able, as days go by, Always to look myself straight in the eye.

I don't want to stand, with the setting sun, And hate myself for the things I've done.

They called the baby Ivy because she crawled all around the house.

Electric Refrigeration.

A bride took in place of ice, which by means of an electrical instrument keeps a mean temperature in the refrigerator, is growing in popularity in suburban and country places where ice is difficult to obtain. Its advantages are that it does away with the ice-man, it gives a dry temperature advantageous for the preservation of food, and there is no slime, dirt or drip as with the use of ice. It is arranged to freeze a little ice for table use when that is desired. It is not an expensive luxury, costing about $400 to install in any refrigerator.

EILEEN SEDGWICK in
"TERROR TRAIL"
A UNIVERSAL SERIAL

Nellie Cordell, nine years old, has been taken to Cincinnati by her father to show the city people what a wonderfully gifted mind she has. For five years Nellie has been the wonder child of the mountains, and the folks in that part of the world say she can read minds as others can read writing. To prove that this was no idle boast her father called the girl from her play in the lobby of the hotel where they were stopping and said, pointing to the affection of a newspaper reporter, "Nellie, this man wants you to tell him what he is thinking about." "Whisper your ace in my ear," said the father to the reporter. Then he said to the girl, "Nellie, what is this gentleman's age?" "Thirty-eight," the child answered promptly and correctly. When questioned as to how she knew it, she answered, "I don't know how I know." On other tests she proved remarkably accurate in her intuitive powers. Nellie is ahead of other children of her age by two years in her school work.

Boys' Unique Punishment.

Three small boys convicted in the Tampa (Fla.) juvenile court of having entered a hardware store, were sentenced by Judge Pittman to save enough money to buy a pocket knife for each boy in the local children's home. The court ordered that the knives should be purchased from the store that was entered.

Cincinnati University football players have something new to train with this fall. It's called the bucking strap, and it is expected to make the players more proficient at carrying the ball and a couple of tacklers at the same time. Two handles on the strap enable two players to hold back the man with the ball, while he does his best to advance. The photo shows how the strap works.

WORD HAS MANY MEANINGS

When One Mentions "Fish," the Sympathetic is Susceptible of More Than One Construction.

"All is not fish that swims" reflected the sapient philosopher as he beheld a summer girl taking to the ocean. The sapient philosopher was formulating a great truth when he came to that conclusion.

The whale, for instance, although it unquestionably swims, is more closely related to the cow than to the minnow. The seal is closer kin to the dog than to the fluke.

To a great many fishermen the word "fish"—see Latin "piscis" and Dutch "visch" (the same word)—possesses only the verb form, "to fish." Catching fish is not a necessary part of the process of fishing. The thing is "to fish" and is not primarily to catch fish. (See fishermen on the banks of the Seine in Paris, "fishing" all day without even getting a bite from a minnow.)

A famous Englishman by the name of Isaac Walton was one of the most persistent patrons of the verb "to fish." The word "fish" was also extensively used during the war in an effort to save meat for the fighters.—Exchange.

When Lord Lonsdale, the famous "sporting peer" of England, first visited this country and posed for the above photograph side whiskers were quite the thing. But times have changed, which might be the reason for the big laugh the photo gives you. Lord Lonsdale, who is the donor of the Lonsdale belt, symbol of the boxing championship of Great Britain, is now sixty-four, but still very much to the fore in the realm of sport. Don't miss the antique of Norma Talmadge, appearing tomorrow.

Spies Everywhere.

"How is the patient progressing?"
"Doing as well as could be expected."
"Able to receive visitors yet?"
"Come around in about three days."
"Thanks, I certainly will."

Overhearing this conversation you would naturally suppose that somebody was recovering from a serious complaint. As a matter of fact, citizens, who engage in home brewing can't be too careful about discussing it on a street corner.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Benefits of Dark Food.

A party of picknickers, after a long, dusty walk reached the parking place where they spread out their luncheon. As they were settling the table, one young woman exclaimed:

"Ain't I glad I brought a chocolate cake. It doesn't show dirt."—Milwaukee Journal.

One of the oddest schoolhouses in the great city of New York. Cramped conditions in the city schools have forced the Board of Education officials to seek rooms where the children may receive their early schooling. The latest to be converted into a school room is an old ferryboat located on the East River. The course of study is the same as that of the regular schools, but the ferryboat youngsters enjoy privileges not extended to pupils in the modern schoolhouses. Lunch is served aboard the boat; the children enjoy an hour's nap on deck every afternoon, and a physical examination as a part of the daily routine. The above illustration shows the children saluting the flag on the stern of the ferryboat at the start of the school day. Dr. E. W. Lawrence examining some of the students, the children enjoying their nap, and a few of the children enjoying their five-course meal.

Removing Iron Rust From Glass.

Dr. Roy Cross of the Kansas City testing laboratory supplies the following method of removing iron rust from glass. Thoroughly soak the spot with equal parts of hydrochloric or muriatic acid and water. Follow this treatment with a hot saturated solution of oxalic acid. The rust stains should then wash off with water without any trouble.

In the Earth's Interior.

From the evidence available, R. D. Oldham traces three divisions in the earth's interior. The solid outer crust, with a thickness of  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 1 per cent of the radius (or twenty to forty miles), has high permanent rigidity, but from unknown causes has been subject to deformations, with displacements of as much as ten miles vertically and 100 horizontally.

Health From Sand.

One of the best ways of recuperating jaded nerves is to walk barefooted over a long stretch of sand. The nerves of the feet are slightly irritated by the sand grains, and the blood, being thus stimulated, circulates more freely. Doctors say that, apart from the physical effects, the mental powers are greatly invigorated by the exercise.

BEE PALMER.

Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion boxer, has taken another role—that of defendant in a suit for the alleged alienation of the affections of Bee Palmer, pretty New York actress. Her husband, Al Siegel, song writer and actor, has announced that his lawyer has drawn up a summons for Dempsey. It is reported that the amount of the damages is $100,000. Miss Palmer, well-known exponent of the "Shimmy," is suing her husband for divorce on the ground of cruelty.

When the evening shadows gather,
In our hearts their comes a longing
For that dear sweet voice and smile
Our hearts are sad and lonely now,
Our grief too deep to tell
But time will come, we know not when,
When we with her may dwell
We will cherish her memory forever

SONS AND DAUGHTERS.

In loving memory of Grant Cole, his wife and two sisters, Fannie and Catharine Cole Whipple.

In a nearby grave yard where the Trunk their branches wave
Like the ones we love so dearly
In their cold and lonely graves, Fondly may think that we've forgotten
That our wounded hearts are Healed
Little do they know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.

Through those lonely dreary years
There comes again tonight
A picture of our darling ones
The ones who made our hearts so bright.

The flowers we placed on our loved ones graves
They wither and decay
But the love for them who sleepeth
there
Will never fade away.

When days are dark and friends are few
Near children how we long for you,

CARTRIGHT "PEPS" UP CONVENTION

The evening session of the Ulster County Sunday School Convention which was held Tuesday night at the Fair Street Reformed Church was opened with devotional exercises led by the Rev. R. P. Ingersoll, pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church, following which State Superintendent Fred D. Cartright continued his up-and-coming manner of getting the closest attention of his audience. It is worthy of note, that while the attendance at the convention is not as large as it has been some times; not as large as it might well be, there has been more pep, more common sense and more practical instruction given and Christianship shown than can be recalled for many a similar convention.

Mr. Cartright believes in doing the unexpected, and advised his hearers that it was a good plan to follow out with boys and girls in the Sunday school. In the afternoon he didn't "address" the convention, he didn't think, and even talking a little. Then he just turned things around in the evening and gave an address on "How to Hold our Young People."

Having had that question popped at him so many times from so many sources, Mr. Cartright said he determined to go to his dictionary and see just what "hold" meant. Following his school-day instruction he counted the first definition the most generally accepted. It read, "To hold; to keep down, withhold," and he couldn't help wondering "if that wasn't—perhaps unconsciously—the attitude of many a Sunday school teacher and superintendent. If it was, it wouldn't work. He showed, how, up to about twelve years of age, a boy or girl would accept being told what to do, how, when and where to do it, by their elders. Then suddenly, sometimes apparently overnight, that boy or girl awoke to a realization that they had a mind of their own with which to work out their own life. Because of the sudden awakening to this fact, the adolescent boys and girls often seem to feel that they know more than their dads and mothers put together. Then it won't work to tell them what they can or must do. Now they want the experience of learning by actually doing things.

Then the speaker told how Uncle Sam worked the same plan during the war. He himself went to an officers' training camp. But he wasn't at once made an officer. Not a bit of it! He had to do the work of a buck private until, knowing what and how things must be done he could intelligently instruct others. If Uncle Sam had gone about the training in any other way, what a mess there would be of the whole thing, and the speaker wondered if some messes called Sunday schools were not similarly due to lack of training. Today, Sunday school superintendents, teachers, secretaries, etc., need to be trained to their job, and one of the best ways of training is to allow the young people to assume, under the guidance of an older worker, the very duties which later on they may have occasion to assume.

The second definition of "hold," Mr. Cartright illustrated instead of repeating. When his own little lad was not quite two years old, he was about to leave home for a two weeks of conferences. The boy was playing with his toy engine on the floor. When Dad wanted to hold him a bit before leaving him, Dad took him up from the floor and his play, and not having consulted the small son's wish in the matter, received a scratch on the face instead of a kiss. It wasn't HIS wish to be taken up.

The third definition of "hold," came the nearest to what was in all their minds, the speaker thought: "To retain in any manner so as to prevent escape." While figures showed that the greatest number of conversions took place between the ages of twelve and eighteen they also showed the greatest number of criminal careers started. Those years in the lives of boys and girls are the most important to themselves, to the church and to the community. Well, how hold them?

Make the Sunday school rooms more attractive with good and appealing pictures, mottoes, flowers, just as we have done and are doing in our week-day schools. See that our Sunday schools have a proper equipment. It is an outrage to ask a Sunday school teacher to hold boys and girls with no adequate equipment. The speaker said it made him angry to see a church with a many thousand dollar organ, several many-thousand dollar stained glass windows shutting out God's sunlight, etc., but too poor or too indifferent to devote a few hundred dollars to make their Sunday school such as to appeal to their young people.

Have better teachers. In other words qualified leadership. In the questionnaire which was spoken of in the afternoon, the boys and girls themselves had been asked what they wanted in their teachers. Their answers were, first "A natural teacher; one who will talk about God and religion naturally; second a teacher who is just, plays no favorites, is on the square with all the boys and girls; third a teacher who has a sense of humor.

Then better lessons are badly needed, and these will be supplied by the present-day "Graded lessons."

Emphatically, more worship is needed in our Sunday schools to hold our boys and girls. What we should have is a worship period, not opening exercises, as was shown in Cartright's afternoon talk. Finally, the young people should be given something worth while to do. They should be allowed to understand tasks calling for the exercise of appreciated responsibility. Little wonder that a Sunday school failed to hold a strong two-sided, up-standing young man returned from the world war, ready to do something worth while, when he was set the task of holding the printed bulletin sheets that came to the Sunday school before morning service of the church.

Make the Sunday school trip the boys and girls from the home and the city viewpoint and Mr. Cartright assured his hearers they would be glad to "Hold the Young People."

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson DuBois of No. 144 Cedar street announce the engagement of their daughter, Alice, to Merritt Every of Port Jervis.

Invitations to the marriage of Louis Barone and Antonette Mar-bell, both of Glance, to be solemnized in St. Joseph's church, Glance, Sunday afternoon, October 30, have been issued.

Executive Federation Meeting.

The October meeting of the executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Kingston City Library. A full attendance is urged.

Atharacton Club.

The Atharacton Club was to meet, for the first time this fall, this afternoon, at the home of Miss Van Slyke, "Rockhurst," Marista street. This club is continuing its subject of last year, "Biography and Letters." A fuller account of the meeting will appear in tomorrow's Freeman.

Hyman-Waldron.

James J. Hyman and Margaret J. Waldron were married at St. Joseph's Church at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning by the Rev. Martin P. O'Garra, assistant pastor. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Judson Allen of Yonkers, while the best man was Solomon J. Wells of Kingston. The bride was attired in a brown traveling suit with hat to match and the matron of honor in a dark blue suit with hat to match. After a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. J. Joyce, the couple left for a trip to New York, Philadelphia, Washington and southern points.

Lowell Club.

The opening fall meeting of the Lowell Club was held at the home of the president, Mrs. T. D. Lewis, on Green street on Tuesday afternoon. The subject on Tuesday afternoon was "The Point of View" and was read from Mrs. Steinert, a member of the club now in the Virgin Islands. The subject of study this evening was "Japan." Mrs. Witter had the first paper, her topic being "The Physi-ography of Japan and the Foundation of the Empire." The paper was ably presented. Mrs. Fossenden then gave a review of the Japanese story of creation. The roll call consisted of Japanese Legends and Myths. Following the literary program a social hour was enjoyed, the hostess serving greatly enjoyed refreshments. Next Tuesday the club will meet with Mrs. Eugene Deyo.

It Wasn't Here.

I was on a chair car one evening. A big awkward looking suitcase fell into the aisle just beside my seat. People coming and going made many unkind remarks to me about my baggage being in the way. At last I determined to make the first remark to the next person passing that way.

A young man stopped and looked in a displeased manner at the suitcase beside me, so I said: "If that note mine I would move it, but it isn't."

I was much embarrassed to have him reply: "Well, it's mine and I can move it."—Chicago Tribune.

The Limit.

"Augh—waa—ah—ah—ah!" It was the baby, and he had made similar remarks steadily for the last hour. Mr. Neapop's hair—what was left of it—stood on end. "Glow ahah waaah-waaah," remarked the baby, lustily, while the people lying across the way rose from their beds and closed their windows ostentatiously. Mr. Neapop ground his teeth. "No think," he murmured wearily, "that I should like to become the father of a train announcer!"

Mental Science.

What are those dreadful pictures hanging on the walls of your waiting room? "They illustrate some of the tortures of the Spanish Inquisition," replied the dentist. "I should think they would be out of place here." "Not at all. After my patients have seen what people suffered in the old days, having a tooth filled seems mere child's play."

ward Christian Soldiers." In the customary unsoldierly manner—not however due to Conductor Ingersoll, but to the indifferent custom—the evening session closed with the benediction pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Coons.

Following the devotional exercises this morning, the program was somewhat changed as Mr. Cartright had to leave on the noon train. He held a sort of round table, that like all of his sessions got everybody thinking, and several people talking; asking questions; telling how they did things successfully in their Sunday schools. All present were sorry to bid farewell to the man who, in the language of the day, as man to man, had got them all thinking as never before.

The only report given by the superintendent, the Rev. Henry W. Britch of Gardiner was the statement that there were 150 Sunday schoolers in the district. Only 13, however, had sent in a full report. No school had been dropped from the number, but three had been received. There were also 13 new Sunday school superintendents. It will be seen by the foregoing that Sunday school conventions are decidedly different from what they used to be. No long reports, today, but a trained, live man or woman to tell those in attendance how to make their Sunday school actually living factors in the Christianizing of our children and young people.

Mr. Britch announced the following committees which were to meet at the afternoon session. Nominating committee: Benjamin Emerson, Charles Snyder and Harry Lane. The resolutions committee: Mrs. May Bogart and Miss May Osterhout.

The closing address of the morning was given by Fred Van A. S. Goodrich, the division superintendent.

Digamy for a Lodging.

A Le Mans signman has just been condemned to two years' imprisonment for bigamy which he avers, he committed in order to find in the present "crisis de logement" somewhere to lay his head.

He is a man of fifty-five and he recently married a widow of seventy-five who offered him a room in her cottage on the firm condition that he should marry her. This he did declaring that his wife was dead. One of his wives was dead, but the police tracked down another, who deserted him some time ago. The unfortunate man has now had "crise de logement" solved for some time, at least.—Paris Figure.

Blackbird Fed Thru.

A lady of prominence who is a great lover of birds, says Mr. W. H. Hudson in his recently published book, "Adventures Among Birds," noticed that a blackbird and a thrush always came together to her lawn where she was in the habit of placing food for the birds. Then she noticed that the blackbird fed the thrush, picking up the crumbs of bread and putting them into its mouth. Looking more closely, she discovered that the thrush's beak had been cut off close to the head, probably by a steel trap of a sudden-death spring trap, such as the children in Connecticut commonly use to catch or kill small birds. The thrush was incapable of getting itself.

LAKE MARATANZA FOR WATER SUPPLY

Village of Ellenville Has Chance to Buy Famous Shawangunk Mountain Lake for New Water Supply.

The growth of the village of Ellenville and the inadequacy of its present sources of water supply may lead to the purchase of Lake Maratanza, the beautiful sheet of water which is on top of the mountain south-east of Ellenville.

Lake Maratanza covers about forty acres and is one of the most beautiful lakes in the southern Shawangunks. Its elevation is 2,233 feet, which is about twenty-two feet less than Sam's Point. It is estimated that the lake contains one billion gallons of water and that the flow at the outlet will easily amount to 800,000 gallons per day. If the latter figure is correct, the supply from Lake Maratanza would be more than twice the normal consumption of water in Ellenville at the present time, but if the village continues to grow at the same rate it has been growing the supply will not be more than is needed within the next ten years. Anyway, Ellenville will have a valuable asset in the knowledge that it can offer practically unlimited water to new residents.

The mountain on which Lake Maratanza is located is a plateau of considerable extent. The land raises about twenty feet between the lake and the slope that stretches toward Ellenville, but this presents no difficulties to present-day engineering methods. The water of the lake is clear and even in midsummer is cold. There is a sandy beach around much of the lake which contains practically no vegetable growth or dirt of any kind.

The water situation in Ellenville during the past summer became so serious that recently an inspection trip to Lake Maratanza was made by Village President William S. Doyle, Trustee Burlison and Clerk Fischer of the water board. The matter of purchase has been considered by the village trustees and water commissioners who are expected to act favorably on its purchase and present the matter to the village taxpayers at a special election.

Lake Maratanza and 640 acres of land adjoining, which includes the famous Sam's Point property, is now owned by T. D. Hurst of New York city. Messrs. Doyle and Burlison called on Mr. Hurst recently and when they explained the situation of Ellenville he liberally gave them an option of $10,000 on the entire property. A preliminary search of title is now being undertaken by Cleon B. Murray, village attorney.

Fifty years ago—in 1871—a hotel was erected at Sam's Point, adjoining Lake Maratanza. Thomas Botsford was proprietor. An advertisement for the hotel appeared in the Ulster County Gazetteer and Business Directory of 1871, announcing that "The New Mountain House, erected during the season of 1871, at Sam's Point, is now open to the public. It is situated on one of the most picturesque and slightly peaks of the Shawangunk Mountains! Easy of access, and 2,300 feet above tide water. Ellenville and Pine Bush stations, on branches of the Midland R. R. are only five miles distant from the house. From the Point, one of the most extensive views obtained from any point on the Shawangunk or Catskill Mountains may be obtained, extending over several counties and into six states. The mountain adjoining abounds in rugged and romantic scenery. Also two beautiful and wonderful mountain lakes. To pleasure seekers the mountain affords every attraction, and the vicinity at all times is a favorite spot for parties from the adjoining country."

The mountain house was burned down many years ago, and never was rebuilt. Foundation stones of a large building, which presumably was the hotel, still stand along the shore of Lake Maratanza.

According to the late E. M. Ruttenber of Newburgh, the authority on Indian and other place-names in this vicinity, the names "Meretange," "Maratange," or "Maratanza," all of which are used in early documents, are derived from the Old English "Mere," meaning "a pond or pool," and "Tanze," "sharp," or offensive to the taste. The name was transferred to this pond on top of the Shawangunk mountains from the pond first bearing it in the town of Greenville, Orange county, in changing the north-west line of the Evans Patent. Ruttenber says: "The pond is about a mile in circumference and is lined with cranberry bushes and other shrubbery, but the water is clear and sweet. It lies about three-quarters of a mile west of Sam's Point. Long Pond, lying four miles north of Maratanza, is now called Awosting Lake."
